GROWING
INSTRUCTIONSYOU CAN GROW ORCHIDS
No Matter Where You Live

Simply read and carefully follow these instructions:

1-TEMPERATURE - The temperature you keep in your home is fine for growing orchids. They like temperatures between 55° and 85° F. No damage is done by occasional drops in temperature into the 30's for short periods of time as long as no frost settles on the leaves.

2-SUN-Give your orchid plants all the sun you can without burning them. During the winter months this usually means all the sun they can get. In the summer months, light shade during the middle of the day is advisable, but full early morning sun and full late afternoon sun is ideal.

The ordinary screen you have on your windows to keep insects out cuts enough of the sun's rays to prevent sun burning during the summer. If convenient, hang your plants outside under a tree during the warm months of the year when the temperature is above 50°F. Be sure you pick a tree or spot where the plants will get at least 50% sunlight. The more sun you can give your plants without burning them, the stronger the growth and the heavier the flowering.

3-WATER-Orchid plants must dry out completely between waterings. Once a week with a good, heavy watering is usually sufficient. Naturally, a plant in a small pot will dry out more quickly than one in a larger pot. To tell if your plant needs water—feel the pot. If the pot feels cool the plant does not need water. If the pot feels warm, or room temperature, the plant needs water. When you do water, really water the plants heavily—then don't water again until the pots are absolutely bone dry.

To water—Take your plants to the sink or laundry tub. Mix one teaspoon of Fenorco Plant Food to a gallon of tepid water. Pour this mixture over the plant. The water will run directly through the pot and it will take approximately ½ gallon of water to give a plant in a 5" pot a heavy watering. Always water in the morning. To wash out any accumulation of plant food that might occur water once monthly with clear water at the regular watering time.

4-FOOD—All living things require food. Orchid plants cannot live indefinitely on air and water alone, so for strong growth and lovely flowers be sure to feed your plants regularly with Fenorco Plant Food. This food was developed by us for bloom and strong growth and it can be used on all your house plants, such as Philodendron, African violets, Begonias, Gardenias, Anthuriums, Amaryllis, and Christmas cactus. In fact, any plant you grow.

5-HUMIDITY—No expensive equipment is necessary or advisable to provide humidity for your orchid plants. Any pan large enough to hold your plants is all right. Fill the pan with tiny stones, gravel, shells, or brightly colored aquarium stones. Next fill the pan about ½ full of water. Place the pan in a sunny window and arrange your pots on top of the gravel or stones. Be sure the pots sit above the level of the water—never let the pots sit in the water.

6-CLEANLINESS—The easiest way to keep a few plants healthy and clean is to wipe them down occasionally with a wet cloth or sponge and mild soap such as Ivory. If you leave a little suds on the plants, it won't hurt them. If you have a large collection of plants use Fenorco Plant Spray.

7-AIR—Orchid plants like the same kind of atmosphere you do. It makes no difference what kind of heating system you have, gas, oil, coal, or radiant heat. If the air in your house is good for you to breathe, your orchid plants will like it too.

DON'T—DON'T—DON'T

Don't water your plants by dipping nor by using the same water or food over and over on a number of plants. Water and feed only with fresh solution. Don't let the bottom of the pots of your plants sit in water. Orchids are not, I repeat, not, water lilies. They want excellent drainage, and are killed by being kept constantly wet.

Don't water the foliage of your plants at night—let them go thru the night dry.

GUARANTEE

We guarantee that you receive our plants in good condition. We have very few plants damaged in shipment. Replacement is made without a cent of cost to you when you fill out proper postal or railway express inspection reports.

Phalaenopsis Growing Instructions

A plant like this (see Page 7) bloomed 100 days (out of 365) last year in New York. Easily grown in the home. Temperature preferred 68-80 degrees. Sunlight 40-45%. Plants are grown in lump charcoal with just enough osmunda to keep them firmly in the pot. WATER and FEED by setting the pot in freshly made nutrient solution (1 teaspoonful Fenorco Plant Food to 1 gallon of water) to a depth of ¾ of the pot for 2-3 hours once or twice a week (depending on how quickly they dry out). Drain and place on a saucer. Phalaenopsis should dry out

GROWING HINTS

Orchid plants apparently need more sunlight as they develop their buds and open their flowers than at any other time. Be sure to give the plants as much sun as possible until the flowers have been open three or four days—then you can move the plant to a table away from the window and the flowers will last longer than they would in the sunlight, but be sure the developing buds and flowers get plenty of light.

If plants with buds are kept in deep shade, the buds will often become papery, turn yellow and fall off, or if the flowers open, they will be smaller and lighter colored than if they had had sufficient light.

If you feel that the light in any of your windows is insufficient, you can augment it by placing a 100 watt incandescent light about 10-20 inches above the plant and burning it during daylight hours only.

Diseases—Orchids have very few diseases. About the only disease of any importance to the amateur is black rot. This is caused by keeping the plant or its foliage too wet. Its symptoms are soft black or brown dead areas in leaves, bulbs; or new growths. These dead areas are usually bordered by a yellow region.

The only practical treatment is to cut out the affected area with a sharp knife and to treat the cut areas with powdered sulphur. Keep the plant drier than usual for the next few weeks and increase the light.

between waterings, but not as "bone dry" as cattleyas. Firm leaves and active root growth show that your Phalaenopsis is getting enough water and food. If leaves become limp but roots are alive, increase frequency of watering. If roots die, repot and start over.

White Phalaenopsis spikes can be made to reflower by cutting the stem behind the last bloom when the flowers are old, leaving the balance of the stem on the plant. The old stem will then branch and produce blooms. On strong plants this can be done several times.

STRAP LEAVED VANDAS can be grown by this same method.
